LOCATION

Glenrothes is a maturing new town lying in the heart of Fife, with a population of approximately 40,000. It is a focus for industry and commerce boasting the regional centre and administrative capital of Fife with a thriving, balanced and prosperous community.

The subjects' prime location allows direct easy access onto the distributor road network which feeds directly onto the A92, connecting to the M90 and Central Scotland motorway network. From the subjects, it is approximately 33 miles to Edinburgh, 22 miles to Perth and 23 miles to the Forth Road Bridge.

The subjects are situated to the south of the Glenrothes/Fife airport, north of Kinglassie Road which gives access to the A92 and the national road network via the A921 to which the subjects have a major frontage. The subjects are situated close to the Whitehill Industrial Estate to the east with open aspect to the south, with excellent vehicular communications.

DESCRIPTION

The subjects comprise a major development site extending to 7.73 Ha (19.1 acres) or thereby with vehicular access currently available from either Osprey Road to the west and north or potentially from Whitecraigs Road within the Whitehill Industrial Estate to the east. The site has a southerly aspect, gently sloping from north to south. The main attraction of this site is its vehicular access to the distributor road network. The subjects are currently screened by a mature tree belt, which if preferred could be thinned to increase visibility to the road network.

Partial disposal of sections of this development opportunity to interested parties would be considered.

Please note: All interested parties will be required to make their own enquiries to confirm as to the availability and capacity of services and otherwise confirm that the site is suitable for their own proposals.
